

I Know Whom I Have Believed

I knew not why God's wondrous grace,
To all He hath made known,
Nor why, unworthy, Christ in love,
Redeemed us for His own,
But now I know whom I have believed,
And am persuaded that He is able,
To keep that which I've committed,
Unto Him against that day,
I knew not how His righteousness,
To me He did impart,
Nor how through faith in God's shed blood,
Wrought peace within my heart,
But now I know whom I have believed,
And am persuaded that He is able,
To keep that which I've committed,
Unto Him against that day,
I knew not how the Spirit placed,
Us in Christ's death for sin,
Nor how I could be crucified with Him,
Never my works to build again,
But now I know whom I have believed,
And am persuaded that He is able,
To keep that which I've committed,
Unto Him against that day,

I knew not how my Lord may come,
To meet us in the air,
Nor where I would spend eternity,
Forever reigning with Him there,
But now I know whom I have believed,
And am persuaded that He is able,
To keep that which I've committed,
Unto Him against that day
