

He Died For All

Free from the law, O happy condition,
Jesus' righteousness for remission;
Though we were sinners cursed of the law,
Grace hath redeemed us, one and all.
He died for all so men could receive it,
Righteousness upon all that believe it;
Justified freely, without the law,
Now that Jesus died for all.

Now we are free, there's no condemnation,
Jesus' blood our propitiation;
For what could not be done by the law,
God sent his Son to die for all.
He died for all so men could receive it,
Righteousness upon all that believe it;
Justified freely, without the law,
All because Jesus died for all.

Knowing the love of Christ constrains us,
We crucify the old man and his lusts;
Unto ourselves not living at all,
But unto Him which died for all.
He died for all so men could receive it:

Righteousness upon all that believe it;

Justified freely, without the law,

Only because Jesus died for all.
